TRAINING OF UNIVERSITY COS. VARIED

Three Companies Have Been Recruited at Montreal Within Record Time.

FOURTH NOW ORGANIZING

Inoculation and Vaccination of Men hinders Progress of Training of the Units.

Captain A. S. Eve, who has so ably formed one Universities company of 320 men and sent it to the front, and is now organizing a fourth company, upon being asked to write a short history of the Universities Companies and their work while in Montreal, has handed to the Daily the following account of publication:

"Those who have been away from Montreal during the summer months
may be interested in a statement setting forth the work of the successive Universities Companies during that period. The first University Overseas Company, under Captain Gregor Barclay, was at the camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake, and all who were there realized the excellent standard and fine
training of that unit.

"The second company was at the same time assembling in camp with rapidity under Captain George C. Mc-Donald and Captain Percy Molson.
They were then recruiting large groups of men particularly from the West, and the physique of these men was not inferior to that of the first company, although their training naturally was not so far advanced.
Shortly after the camp broke up, the first company embarked, while the second completed its strength and advanced its training in Montreal. Both companies have since that time not only finished their work in Shorncliffe,
but have joined the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and taken their places on the continent.

Third Company Formed.

"The third company was authorized when the second embarked, and owing to the rush of recruits from Saskatchewan, was in less than two months about 80 over strength. Hence the total reinforcements sent forward have numbered as follows:

First company..... 250
Second company..... 275
Third company..... 330

Total..... 855
"The fourth company has already assembled over 160 men, and there is every prospect of completing the numbers in two months from authorization. The training of such units is greatly delayed by the three inocula-tions against typhoid, and the vaccination as a preventive against smallpox.
Just as the men are getting hardened by physical training, routes, marches and drill, there comes a setback by these reliable and essential preventive treatments. Much of the hard work both in the office and on the parade ground has been done by McGill men.
In particular, the ordinary duties of paymaster and quartermaster have been ably carried out by Lieut. J. E.
Reid, a born soldier, during his vacation. This work has now been taken in hand by Lieut. Walter Molson, whose well-known organizing powers are quickly proving valuable. On the parade ground, Sergt. Major Werry has been always patient and thorough.
His work has secured efficiency and steadiness very rapidly, no easy matter when recruits with no previous training arrive daily, and the men of the company are at every stage of training at the same time. It is, however, necessary not merely to teach drill, but to press forward with musketry instruction and with shooting at the C.P.R. galleries and the Pol-aux Trembles range. Bayonet fighting, trench making, signalling, physical drill and minor tactics, and the duties of guards and sentries are also important, and there is the care of barracks, issues of equipment and the heavy work of orderly room to be attended to.

Officers Are Recruiting.

"In the meantime the officers of the company are away from Montreal obtaining recruits from the Maritime Provinces and elsewhere. Under these circumstances the work could not be carried out effectively were it not for the assistance received from various members of the McGill C.O.T.C. In particular, Lieut. Traquair has taken in hand the bayonet work, Lieut. Tid-marsh the signalling, and Sergt. Key is up at 6.30 every morning to give physical instruction. Captain Gilmer and Lieut. Molson, Scott and Fleming have assisted as orderly officers, and Captain Durely has aided with musketry and machine-gun instruction.

"It is desirable that company after company should go forward as long as the war lasts, and there is abundant evidence that there will be an increasing demand to join them. In the meantime those who cannot join now are recommended to train themselves in every way possible so as to be ready to take their places as successive calls become more and more urgent in the present struggle for liberty and security. Those who cannot go overseas at once should receive military training
in preparation for unknown eventualities.
The war found us unprepared at the outset, but we shall have no ex-cause if in a year's time it finds us still unprepared. In conclusion, it is most encouraging to find the British and Canadian authorities alike are naturally turning their attention to the Universities Companies for a supply of officers to fill the gaps in various regiments caused by casualties more especially in the case of junior officers.

"This statement will be incomplete
without a recognition of the kindness both of the McGill authorities and of the students in their generous treatment of both officers and men. The best accommodation and most considerate treatment have been invariably forthcoming. The leaders of all the Canadian Universities have loyally assisted the movement and the work done at McGill has merely been one wheel in the general scheme, of which it may be added that the moving spirits have been Col. Starke and Major Maree."

THANKSGIVING DINNER GIVEN AT THE Y.M.C.A.

The Hall Was Tastefully decorated With Autumn Leaves and McGill Colors.

FINE LIST OF TOASTS

Lieut.-Col. Starke Spoke of the Work Accomplished by the Mc-Gill Battalion C.O.T.C.

With an attendance of over 140 students whose residences are out of town, the annual Thanksgiving supper given for their benefit last evening in Strathcona Hall under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the McGill Y.
M. C. A., was one of the most successful affairs of the kind which has been held in recent years. All present thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and voted the Thanksgiving dinner of the Y.M.C.A.
the best ever. The menu provided was of the highest order, and its excellence much appreciated by those who could not, through force of circumstance, partake of a turkey dinner at their own homes.

Besides students hailing from all quarters of the country, there were present a number of distinguished guests who occupied a place on the programme of addresses delivered following the dinner.

The chair was occupied by the Rev.
Dr. Robert Johnston, minister of the American Presbyterian Church. Dr.
Johnston proposed the toast to the King, Frank B. Compton, Law '17, president of the McGill Y.M.C.A., proposed the toast to Alma Mater, which was responded to by Dr. F. A. Adams, Dean of the Faculty of Applied Science. The McGill Battalion, C.O.T.C., was proposed by H. B. Church, Med. '17, and responded to by Lieut.-Col. Robert Starke, officer commanding the Battalion. Lieut.-Col. Starke spoke enthusiastically of the splendid work accomplished by the unit under his command, both last session and during the summer months when the auxiliary battalion was in existence. Lieut.-Col.
Starke touched upon the fine record of the Y.M.C.A. at the front, referring particularly to the active service branch of the McGill Y.M.C.A. with No. 3 (McGill) General Hospital. In the course of his remarks, Lieut.-Col.
Starke noted with pride the fact that the McGill Battalion had contributed 119 officers and 500 men to their part in preserving the integrity of the Empire.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Woodsworth spoke of "Citizenship in Canada," laying special emphasis upon the fact that Canadian college men would have to lead in the fight to assimilate the immigrants entering the country.

Howard Miller, Med. '16, ably proposed a toast to the ladies.

Dr. H. M. Ami, formerly of the technical staff of the Dominion Geological Survey, Ottawa, delivered a most interesting lecture on the people and life of Turkey, illustrated with lantern slides. Dr. Ami touched upon various phases of Turkish life and customs which he had encountered during his travels, and which proved most entertaining at the present time. The interesting statement was made by Dr.
Ami, that in his opinion nine out of every ten Turks, if asked to vote upon the question would readily consent to a pro-Allies government.

Rev. Dr. Hugh Pedley, pastor of Emmanuel Church, spoke a few appropriate words, after which Rev. Dr. Johnston proposed three cheers for the Ladies' Auxiliary, which were heartily given.

The singing of "God Save the King" brought a most pleasant function to a close.

The hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves, and the McGill colors were prominently displayed. The large Mc-Gill banner given to the Y.M.C.A. by Mrs. F. D. Adams was hung on the wall over the speakers' table.

TENNIS CLUB GETS DOWN TO BUSINESS

W. J. Harshaw is Elected President of the Club in Succession to S. St. C. Ward.

The Tennis Club held a meeting in Room D of Strathcona Hall on Friday afternoon to fill the vacancies in the executive caused by the departure from college of M. St. C. Ward, Ian Ross and W. H. Aird. The secretary, J. C. Farthing, was in the chair in the absence of the president and vice-president.

The elections were at once proceeded with and resulted in W. J. Harshaw being chosen as president. The new president took the chair and thanked the meeting for his election. A Quinn was elected as vice-president and M.
C. Walsh as the Arts representative to the executive.

There was a short discussion concerning the tournament which is soon to be started, the suggestion was made that a limit be put up on the time allowed for each game to be played and met with general approval.
The meeting then adjourned.

True Fortitude

Words of appreciation from exterior and unexpected sources are always most welcome and at a time like the present when McGill, in common with all other Canadian Universities, is striving with a situation and problems unprecedented in its recent history, it is gratifying in the extreme to note the attitude of encouragement with which sister Universities to the south view our efforts to cope with the difficulties which beset us.

The picture which an editorial writer sketches in the Daily Illini, the undergraduate newspaper of the University of Illinois, while distorted and in many respects out of all true proportion, and the conclusion which he draws serve to illustrate the friendly interest which is being taken in Canadian Universities by our neighbors to the south. The Daily Illini says:

"We thought it a bit hard to tear ourselves away from summer pastimes, and in some cases sunnier climes, to return to the University three weeks ago. But what would have been our feelings if we had returned to find the majority of our best friends missing, a pall of gloom settled over the institution as on the day following some great disaster? What would be our thoughts when we learned that the best athletes, the truest leaders, the most brilliant scholars of our class were dead on the field of battle?"

"Yet that is just the condition found by Canadian students registering in their universities this fall. No, that is not just the condition, for the pall of gloom one would expect to find is lacking. In spite of the death of many of the most promising college young men in the country, on the battle grounds of Europe, one can find no indication of discouragement among those that are left. In the face of a sickening decrease in registration, there is no note of despondency in the university dailies from McGill and Toronto. McGill University opened its doors at Montreal last Monday and began its regular sessions as though nothing had changed. In spite of the fact that McGill's new stadium has just been completed, no intercollegiate athletics will be played this year. Students of McGill, Toronto University at Toronto, and C. I. R. F. U. at Kingston have all agreed that intercollegiate contests should be discontinued in order to save financial support for their armies. Instead, an extensive system of intracollegiate athletics has been instituted at each of the universities.

"It is a strong race of young men which can cheerfully adjust itself to the most unfortunate circumstances and give up without misgiving experience dearest to the heart of a collegian."

Though all of our "best athletes," "truest leaders" and "most brilliant scholars" are not dead on the field of battle (many of them, however, are at the front), and though the C. I. R. F. U. is a football union, not a University, our western friend's heart is in the right place. Thanks, brother.

Editorial Notes

Only students who have paid the Universal fee are entitled to receive copies of the Daily regularly.

Nominations are being asked for to fill vacancies existing in the executives of the Arts and Science Undergraduates Societies. At no time more than at the present was there need for capable administration of student affairs and though popularity may be in some cases sufficient qualification for office, the acquisition of men possessing a more extended knowledge of business matters is to be preferred.

The Tobacco Fund lists which are now open at the Union provide an excellent means by which students may, in a small way, show our representatives at the front that we appreciate what they are doing for us. The value of tobacco to the men in the trenches is now generally acknowledged even by those who were previously opposed to its use. As a nerve-soother it has proved itself without an equal and surely no student will begrudge the quarter which will bring to his former classmates relief, if only momentary, from the terrible strain under which they are laboring.

The system of inter-class debates which the Literary and Debating Society proposes to place in operation at an early date should meet with the cordial approval and loyal support of every eligible undergraduate, and by that is meant every undergraduate capable of expressing himself intelligibly in his mother tongue. The project should make a strong appeal to the under classmen who have a greater amount of time at their disposal and have consequently more opportunity for preparation than would be the case with seniors whose time is taken up with academic work. Last session the Lit. was practically dormant; this session it appears to have received a new lease of life and with the support which is so essential to the success of any student organization may count upon a most prosperous and successful year.

QUEEN'S DISAPPOINTED

Stood to Have Benefitted by the Estate of Sir Sandford Fleming.

The will of the late Sir Sandford Fleming, filed for probate in the Surrogate Court at Ottawa, disposes of an estate of $238,534. In his original will Sir Sandford, who was chancellor of Queen's University, gave the institution $30,000, a half interest in certain parcels of real estate and a half interest in the residue, but by a codicil this bequest was revoked with the exception of the $30,000, which he leaves at the discretion of his executors to give to the university or not as they see fit. His reasons for the revocation were the action of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in 1908 in providing that all the faculties of the institution be under the control of the church. Sir Sandford opposed other faculties than the theological being so controlled. At a later meeting the assembly took this action, but Sir Sandford did not change his will. All but $50,000 of the estate had been disposed of before the testator's death to his immediate family, and $10,000 is given to charity.

OF HISTORIC WOOD

Chair and Communion Table Are Presented to Knox College, Toronto.

The historic Crown Court Church, one of the most noted in connection with the Presbyterian body, was built in 1718 in Covent Garden, London, Eng., and was demolished in 1908 to make room for the erection of a new and smaller church. Rev. John Cumming, D.D., a celebrated divine, was pastor for many years. Mr. J. Ross Robertson, proprietor of the Toronto Telegram, who lived in London from 1872-5, attended this church and was a friend of the pastor. During a visit to London in 1908 Mr. Robertson obtained from the contractors wood from the old church, out of which he had some chairs made. One of these was presented to Toronto University in June, 1909, for use in the Convocation Hall, and another to St. Andrew's Church, southeast corner of King and Simcoe streets, Toronto, of which church Mr. Robertson is an adherent, the remainder of the wood was made into a handsome chair and communion table, which Mr. Robertson in September, 1915, presented to Knox College for the Chapel in the new buildings just erected in St. George street, on the west side of the grounds of Toronto University.

MANY STUDENTS EARNING WAY THROUGH COLLEGE.

That over fifty per cent. of the men students of the University of California, earn their way, either wholly or in part, has been shown by the statistics gathered by Recorder James Sutton and Dean T. M. Putnam at the beginning of the semester. Twenty-two and two tenths per cent. of all the men registered earn every dollar they spend, and thirty-four per cent. are partially self-supporting, making a total of fifty-five and six-tenths per cent. who are self-supporting either totally or in part.

FIFTH ROYAL
HIGHLANDERS
HAVE OUTING

Militia Unit Has a Successful Field Day on Thanks-giving.

FIGHT ENDED IN A DRAW

Red Force Was Unable to Drive Blue Force From Island of Montreal.

(Special Staff Representative.)

Back River, Oct. 11.—The 5th Royal Highlanders of Canada yesterday had their first all-day manoeuvres of the season. The field day was an entire success and proved very instructive both to the men and officers. The regiment, both battalions, left the Bleury street armoury at 9 o'clock, the route of the march being up Bleury, along St. Catherine road and on the fields behind the Montreal Hunt Club, where is the site of Model City. Here manoeuvres, consisting of infantry in attack, were carried on during the morning. The theory of those exercises was that the red army had established its headquarters at the Bleury street armoury, having occupied the Island of Montreal. The regiment was considered as representing one company of four platoons of the red force under command of Major V. I. Smart. Word was supposed to have been received that a small isolated force of the enemy, estimated at two platoons with two field guns, had been discovered by cavalry scouts as being in the territory just west of the Canadian Northern Railway tracks through Model City. The company was ordered to proceed thither and attack this enemy force. The enemy were located in a wood, and were slowly driven back to the tracks. The result of this exercise was considered by the umpires as a draw, as each side did equally well. An air of realism was added to the manoeuvre by the fact that in addition to having many rounds of blank ammunition for each man, the enemy were provided with cannon that shot blank ammunition with a noise resembling big gun fire, and which burst in mid air with the typical flash and ring of smoke peculiar to the bursting of real shrapnel shell. When the attacked were almost driven on to the tracks, the bugle sounded, and every one formed up and given lunch. In the afternoon the regiment crossed the track, with the theory in view that the red force were in occupation of the city of Outremont, and the blue force were attacking from the west. Here again the enemy force was represented by A and B Companies of the 1st Batt., 5th Royal Highlanders. In this manoeuvre the rest of the regiment was considered as an outpost of one company of four platoons of the defending or red force under the command of D. B. Robertson. The outpost company was located in some woods west of the Outremont Golf Club, and protected a frontage extending from Van Horne avenue on the south to the Canadian Pacific Railway on the north. The blue force, under Lieut. Murray, was considered as being equivalent to a company in strength, and in the attack on the outposts they attempted an enveloping movement on the right flank of the defenders. This, however, was skillfully turned, with the result that in the outcome of the fight both sides were considered by the umpires as having equal advantages on the other.

The boundaries of the morning's sham battle consisted of Cote des Neiges-St. Laurent road on the west; on the north, River La Prairie; on the south, the Canadian Northern Railway right of way, while on the south the area of operations was confined by the Canadian Pacific Railway right of way, which was regarded as impassable except where crossed by the Cote des Neiges-St. Laurent road. The umpires for the day were a white band on their arms and consisted of the senior officers of the regiment. The turnout was exceptionally good, but, considering the fact that in the last year the Fifth has sent out two overseas regiments, the 13th and 42nd Battalions, and are recruiting now a third, the 73rd, under Lieut.-Col. Peers Davidson, which regiments of course reduced the strength to 600 men, which are now signed up. An appeal was made for recruits for the 5th Royal Highlanders, in which Lieut.-Col. Monserrat stated that all men enlisting in this militia unit would be put in special sections with their comrades, so that all the men when they attended the two nights a week drill would meet McGill friends, if they were from McGill, bank men if they were bank men, and men from their same firm, if they so stated, and that any man from another unit would not be required to do recruit drill.

After the afternoon's exercises the regiment formed up, and was back in the Bleury street armoury after what might be called the most successful event of its kind in the city this year.

MANY FROM SCIENCE, '17

Junior Year Is Well Represented Among McGill Men Off to Firing Line.

Lieut. D. H. Macfarlane, last year a member of Sci. '17, and prominent in various undergraduate activities is in town to-day en route to Ottawa where he will join the Divisional Signal Company, Canadian Engineers, for overseas service. "Don" has served during the summer as signalling instructor to the 7th Infantry Brigade at Valcartier, and was previously signalling officer of the McGill Battalion, C.O.T.C. At college he was associated in a leading way with a number of undergraduate organizations, including the McGill Daily, of which he was a news editor, the Science Undergraduate Society, and the Eastern Township Club. He hails from Sherbrooke, Que.

Edgar N. Reid, Sci. '17, has secured a commission in the Ordnance Corps and is training at Toronto. He spent two years at R. M. C. before entering McGill.

Morgan M. Johnston, Arts, '15, is with the 34th Battery at Barriefield as a lieutenant. His torpedo racing car is one of the sights pointed out by the village folk at Kingston to visitors.

G. Irvine Baillie, Sci. '17, is with the 60th Battalion, C.E.F., at Valcartier Camp, with the rank of Lieutenant. He was last year an N.C.O. in "A" Company, McGill Contingent, C.O.T.C.

Cecil G. Bronson, who was a year with Sci. '17, on entering college, has gone to Dayton, Ohio, to take a course in aviation at the Wright Flying School.

Kenneth B. Robertson, Sci. '16, is with the 35th Battery, C.F.A., as sergeant.

Charles McNicoll, Sci. '16, left yesterday for Dayton, Ohio, to take a qualifying course in aviation at the Wright Flying School. If successful in passing tests, he will go overseas to join the Army Flying Corps.

Lieut. R. S. Armitage, Sci. '17, is serving with the 27th Battery, C.F.A., overseas. Armitage was prominent in McGill sporting circles.

John Bower L. Heney Sci. '16, is taking a qualifying course in artillery at Kingston, Ontario, with a view to receiving a commission for overseas service.

J. R. Wilson, Sci. '17, crossed to England with the 27th Battery, C.F.A., as sergeant.

K. B. Jenks, Sci. '17, is also with the 27th Battery, C.F.A., as a sergeant.

Lloyd H. Rochester, Sci. '17, is range-finder with the 27th Overseas Battery, C.F.A., in England.

G. Drummond Burn, Arts, '15, is attached to Headquarters at Valcartier Camp, acting as Aide-de-Camp with rank of Lieutenant.

Melbourne ("Tim") O'Halloran, Arts, '15, is at Barriefield Camp with the 32nd Battery, C.F.A., as lieutenant.

Leslie Weldon, who was a year with Sci. '16, has joined the Pioneers' Battalion being formed at Ottawa.

R. Lee Strath, Sci. '14, left for overseas service with the 26th Battery and is now in England. At McGill he was prominently identified with the Ski Club, and was a sergeant in "B" Company, C.O.T.C.

W. K. Rutherford, Sci. '18, is serving as a gunner with the 35th Battery, Canadian Field Artillery. He was president of Science, '18 last year, an enthusiastic and successful water polo player, and a corporal in the McGill C.O.T.C.

Eric H. Wait, Sci. '18, formerly of Arts, '17, enlisted during the summer with the 35th Battery, Canadian Field Artillery.

W. McLea Walbank, Sci. '15, is serving with the 34th Battery, Canadian Field Artillery at Barriefield Camp, Kingston, as a lieutenant.

Maurice J. Brophy, Sci. '17, is the latest McGill man to join Major E. G. M. Cape's Siege Battery of Heavy Artillery, which is now being formed in Montreal. Brophy played class hockey with the Science, '17 team, and was a well-known figure at the Union billiards room.

Paul P. Hutchison, Arts, '16, has secured a commission in the 73rd Highlanders, the Overseas Battalion now in organization in Montreal. Hutchison took a leading part in undergraduate affairs at McGill, being for two years president of his class, vice-president of the Arts Undergraduate Society, and chairman of the Business Board of the 1916 Annual.

"Fernie" Gendron, Sci. '15, who played outside wing on the senior football team two years ago, and who crossed to France with No. 1 Field Company, Canadian Engineers, is back in Canada, recuperating from wounds and poison gas. He is now recruiting at Ottawa for the Battalion of Pioneers to be raised in Eastern Ontario.

LETTERS FROM MCGILL MEN.

Letters from or news of McGill men at the front or in training to proceed there will always find a welcome place in the columns of the McGill Daily. Such communications should be addressed to the Military Editor. Original manuscripts, if desired, will be preserved and returned to the sender.

ARTS SOPHOMORES

J. C. Farthing Returned as President of the Class of Arts, '18.

The class of Arts, '18, held its annual meeting last Thursday at 1 o'clock, when officers were elected for the coming year. The executive elected is as follows: President, J. C. Farthing. Vice-President, W. B. Rutherford. Secretary-Treasurer, M. H. Hutchison. The financial statement for last year was read and showed a surplus of over $20 in the bank. No further business was done through lack of time.

Messrs. J. H. Molson, Arts, '19, and E. B. Buchanan, Arts, '19, have received the provision rank of lieutenants in the 5th Royal Highlanders.

Sapper H. B. Tett, Sci., '14, 1st Company, Canadian Engineers, was wounded in France during the summer. His home is in Westport, Ont.

Pte. Yves Lamontagne, Sci., '15, with the Overseas Railway Construction Corps at the front, writes an interesting letter concerning the work which the unit is doing. At the time of writing the corps was engaged in building narrow gauge railways for transporting men and supplies, and the creation of concrete buildings. The Canadians were working with a corps of Belgian engineers.

The Royal Aero Club of the United Kingdom, in their official notice to members issues the name of Philip S. Fisher, Arts, '16, as a new member. He obtained his certificate at the Aviation School at Bhacon on August 11th, 1915, and his membership in the Royal Aero Club has just been announced in the latest issue of "Flight," the official organ of this club. He is at present attending the Delta Upsilon Fraternity Convention at New York, but hopes to go overseas to join the Royal Naval Air Service in a short time.

N. MacDiarmid who is an old Arts, '17 man, is now taking the aviation course up in Toronto. He has been there since the spring, but the conditions of weather, and it is said a weakness in the management of the school have combined to hold him back. Others who started the course there at the same time, wisely left and went to the States for their training.

Kenneth Macdonald, President of the Year of 1917 last year, is now a full-fledged flying man, being now a Flight-Lieutenant in the Royal Naval Air Service. At the outbreak of the war he joined the McGill Battalion, and later was transferred to the 5th Royal Highlanders, where he qualified as a Lieutenant. Going over to England with the 42nd Royal Highlanders last June, he was transferred to a flying school where he obtained his certificate, and upon application was granted a commission in the Royal Naval Air Service.

Lieutenant W. E. Dunton, who has lately been taking an advanced infantry course at Shorncliffe, is now back on regular routine work, and has been put in charge of a platoon in the 3rd University Company, which is now in training at Shorncliffe. Lieut. Dunton after his motor accident, although he did not feel the immediate effects was forced to go to hospital where he spent over a week, and it is only just lately that he has been able to resume his duties. "Tommy" Dunton last year was President of Arts, '17, and President of the French Club, and he left last June with the First Universities Company for England, where he was put in charge of a company of wounded P.P.C.L. men about to return to the front. He is now back with the Third McGill contingent to the P. P. C. L., and it with them that he will probably go to France.

Etienne Beiler (Arts, '15), son of the Rev. Professor Beiler of McGill, is attached to the 11th Battalion as a Lieutenant. Lieut. E. S. Beiler left last June with the First Universities Company as a private, but on arrival in England he obtained his transfer, and upon qualifying obtained his commission in the 11th.

Lieutenant Andrew Wanklyn, who was reported seriously injured a few days ago, is getting on slowly, and it is expected that some weeks will elapse before he is about again. Lieut. Wanklyn was one of the officers in the First Universities Company, who were left in England, when the Company went to the front, and it was while riding last week, that he sustained severe injuries when his horse rolled over on to him.

Amongst McGill graduates recently married is Shirley Dixon, President of the Students' Council, 1913-14. The wedding was quietly celebrated in England. The bride was formerly Miss Inez MacLaughlin. Shirley has received an appointment on the Paymaster's staff of the Second Expeditionary Force with headquarters at Shorncliffe. It will be remembered that he left with the 23rd Battalion, being the last man to join that regiment. He has since obtained his commission and the above appointment.

H. Walter Davis, late of Sci., '17, and Comm., '17, is with the Royal Canadian Regiment at the front with the rank of lieutenant.

Don. Brophy, who was for a year with Arts, '17, is attending the Aviation School at Toronto.

VICTOR DUCLOS LATEST MCGILL MAN WOUNDED

Was Bomb-Throwing Officer of the 5th Infantry Brigade C. E. F.

BELONGED TO ARTS, '15

Lieut. Duclos Served as Assistant Manager of Senior Football Team Last Year.

The night casualty list issued at Ottawa makes mention of the fact that Lieut. Victor Eugene Duclos, Arts, '15, of the 24th Battalion, C.E.F., has been slightly wounded while fighting with the 2nd Division of Canadians in Flanders. Lieut. Duclos joined the 24th Battalion here last winter with a commission as lieutenant. He abandoned his course in Arts, '15, to do so, and was one of those students who received their degrees in absentia while on active service.

At McGill Lieut. Duclos was especially prominent in athletic life, being assistant manager of the Senior Football team in 1914, and previously captain of the Intermediate Football team.

The 24th Battalion, which was in training in this city all last winter, crossed to France from Shorncliffe about September 20. Lieut. Duclos, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Duclos, 488 Elm Avenue, Westmount, had previously been made head of the bomb-throwing corps of the 5th Brigade of Infantry. Mrs. Duclos a few days ago received a letter from her

NARROW ESCAPE IN CYCLONE ZONE

H. C. Cassidy, Arts, '17, Had Thrilling Experience in Southern Alberta.

Halton C. Cassidy, a member of Arts '17, who returned yesterday from Southern Alberta, where he spent the summer with a survey party, relates a thrilling experience through which he passed in the course of his work.

Cassidy was in the heart of the zone of the cyclone which passed over that province in June, and escaped narrowly from losing his life. Four people who lived near where the survey party was working received injuries, from which they subsequently died, and the survey camp proper was wiped out of existence. Cassidy, with two or three others, who were caught on the prairie in the height of the storm, took safety in a hole, which was partly filled with water, and, after a harrowing experience and a narrow escape from being swept away, finally reach safety.

SOPHOMORES HAD THE ADVANTAGE

Innocent Freshmen Pounced Upon by Second Year Men in Corridor.

On Friday morning last, at about 11 o'clock, the corridor leading to Room 115 in the Arts Building was the scene of considerable activity.

The election of the class officials had been held immediately after the class in Latin, by the Freshmen, and they were just filing forth with shining, innocent faces when the two rows of Sophs who had been lounging outside fell upon them. A massacre followed. The Freshies were unprepared for battle and the hands that seized them were anything but Sophed. They were obliged to "run the gauntlet," fighting without gloves, and were handed the mitten "at the end with expedition." They were there obliged to climb a short flight of stairs amidst the flighty stares of various young ladies who occupied dress circles standing room at the performance. When the dust of battle cleared, the corridor was strewn with books and pens which were duly restored to their owners after some confusion. Although it had been such an uphill battle for the Freshies they had no ill-feeling, however, but confidently expect to turn the tables shortly.

STOPPED PRESIDENT

George Williscroft Was Prevented From Entering Building of Which he is Head.

George Williscroft, president of the Union, is telling a good story on himself these days. He it known to all that every night after ten o'clock there is a sentry posted with fixed bayonet in the hall of the Union to prevent the entrance of any other except those who have good reason to do so. Williscroft, who occupies a room at the Union, was returning one evening last week when he was stopped by the sentry, who in spite of protests on the part of the Union president, refused to let him pass. It was only after George had begun to wax wrathful over the delay that the sentry consented to allow him to pass.

NOTICE.

A meeting of the Athletic Association will be held to-day, at 5 p.m., in the Union.
The meeting will be short, but important, and the business of peculiar interest to all clubs.

INTER-CLASS DEBATING TO BE INITIATED

Executive of "Lit." Relying Upon Material for I. U. D. L. Matches.

SUPPORT IS A NECESSITY

C. J. Tidmarsh Will Represent McGill at Meeting in Kingston on Friday.

The prospects for a successful season in the "Lit." are becoming brighter with the dawn of each succeeding day. The idea of holding inter-class debates seems to be meeting with approval on all sides, and many have already promised their enthusiastic support. A general meeting will be held in the near future, when something more definite will be done by getting all those who are interested together to make suggestions and to proceed with the drawing-up of the schedule.

Meanwhile much interest is being centred in the meeting of the Inter-University Debating League, which is to be held in Kingston next Friday, and at which McGill is to be represented by C. J. Tidmarsh. This meeting is of unusual interest this year because of the proposed amendment to the constitution which is being brought up. The new idea is that of a Pentagonal League, which means that either McMaster or Western University will be represented as well as the original four teams, McGill, Queen's, Toronto and Ottawa. Under this new system each college will have two teams, one defending the affirmative at home, the other defending the negative away from home. This means that there will be a debate at each university and that all the debates will take place on the same night some time before the 5th of December. In investigating this system (which has been adopted in many of the American leagues), it is found that there are only three possible results. The first case is when one university wins outright, by winning both its debates while three others break even and the fifth loses twice.

New System Adopted.

This is an improvement over the old system, inasmuch as it requires no play-off. The second possibility is when two universities win both their games and are consequently tied. This of course necessitates a play-off such as was held in other years.

The third and most unfortunate possibility is when every college breaks even with one win and one loss to its credit. It is not known here just how this eventuality will be met, but it is probable that the executive of the I. U. D. L. will come to some agreement, whereby more than one play-off will not be necessary.

McGill will be unable to give any definite word to the I. U. D. L. as to whether she can enter a team this year or not. That will have to depend upon the success of the inter-class debates. Last year, it will be remembered, the Students' Council passed a motion expressing their regret that the Lit. had lowered the colors of Old McGill in not entering a team in the I. U. D. L. It is hoped this year that the inter-class debates will produce enough first-class material to make a team which will bring credit to the alma mater. If the other universities enter teams, McGill must not be behind in spite of all the time taken up in drilling and military training. But as it has been said before, this will depend entirely upon the support given to the inter-class debates. It is therefore necessary that every one interested should turn out and make the year a success.

ELECTRIC FURNACE

STEEL IN CANADA

Subject of Addresses at Next Meeting of Metallurgical Association.

The next meeting of the Montreal Metallurgical Association will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 13, at 8.15 p.m., in the Chemistry Building, McGill University. The subject will be, "Electric Furnace Steel in Canada." The electric furnace can now be used economically in the steel foundry for certain classes of work.

Speakers are expected who will tell how this is done, commercially and technically. The addresses will be illustrated with lantern views, and two electric steel-making furnaces will be shown in operation in the metallurgical laboratory.

The meeting should be of unusual interest in view of the novelty in this country of making steel, commercially, in the electric furnace, and as such steel is now being used for military purposes.

Mr. Green, of the Armstrong-Whitworth Company, has promised to make some tool steel electrically in the metallurgical laboratory, and this process can be seen both before and after the meeting. Another kind of electric furnace will also be shown in operation after the meeting.

Prof. Alfred Stansfield is president of the association.

MEET ENTRIES RECEIVABLE

Lists Are Now Open at the McGill Union and at Strathcona Hall.

LARGE ENTRIES EXPECTED

Newcomers Look to Have the Goods, But Sophomores Will Make Them Go the Limit.

Entry lists for the Freshman-Sophomore athletic meet, to be held on Saturday, October 16, are now open. One list is to be had at the Union, and another at the Strathcona Hall.

A large entry list, specially of freshmen, is practically assured, but it is not necessary for those entering to wait until the last moment. Programmes have to be printed and other arrangements made, so the lists will close Thursday night.

A large number of freshmen are expected to enter, some of them first-class men. Floss, high jumper from Bishop's College, Lennoxville, has the unusual record of 5 feet 6 inches in that event. He should also be good in some of the similar events.

Black, a sprinter from the Montreal High, won the intercollegiate 100 yards last year. He will have to improve his time a little, but in any case he should make the next man hustle.

Lafoley, also from the Montreal High, has quite a record as a jumper and middle-distance man.

Beach, a freshman from Ottawa, is expected to make a good showing in the jumps and the sprints.

There are other new men as well as these mentioned. Woodward, another Poss, Clarke, and others are all likely to be heard from.

For the sophomores, Jack Fairthing, the second year Arts president, is the best. He was on last year's track team, and should take the broad jump and the hurdles from the freshmen easily.

Bill Antliffe, also a soph. in Arts, looks good for the pole vault, and should give the best of them a run in the high jump and the distance runs. In the high jump Bill has the Loyola record. In the Loyola sports held a few weeks ago, they had a high jump open to schools and colleges. Bill entered and won the event, setting a new record of 5 feet 5 inches.

Don Smelzer, Med. '18, will be running for the Sophs. this year. He looks like the man to beat for the individual trophy on the 22nd, and should certainly clean up in the Fresh-Soph. sports this Saturday. His events are the 100 yards, 220 yards, high jump and broad jump, with possibly others thrown in.

Len Hillier, also Med. '18, is back again, and should repeat his performance of two years ago, when he cleaned up the intercollegiate 100 yards in easy fashion.

These are just a few of the men who will be seen in action next Saturday. That meet should be a good one, all right.

THIS AMBULANCE

HAS BEST RECORD

Motor Sent by Princeton Undergrads in Active Service at Bois le Pretre.

Car No. 60 is the official title of the ambulance sent to the European war zone through the generosity of Princeton's undergraduates last winter. Driven by George Roeder, formerly of New Brunswick, this motor has been in active service for the past five months, and its record of 807 kilometers in one week has not been equalled by any other car in the service.

Sent to France for use under the American Ambulance Hospital of Paris, this machine has lately been in the region of Bois le Pretre, where hand to hand fighting is constantly in progress. So sanguinary is the nature of the fighting in this vicinity that the soldiers have named it "the death hole."

According to a report of Edward Salisbury, a Harvard graduate in charge of the district, Roeder has been engaged in carrying wounded soldiers from this section to hospitals and receiving station, and has made a fine record for "energy, cheerfulness, and his care in lifting and transporting the wounded."

Many Princeton men have been active in war relief work since practically the outbreak of hostilities. Among them, the Hon. A. Platt, Andrew '93, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury under President Taft's administration, is now inspector of ambulances for the American Ambulance Hospital at Paris. Mr. Andrew was recently in the United States and made an earnest appeal for additional volunteers. He returned to Paris early in September.

MCGILL MEN ARE "JAKE"

Sergt. J. A. Lalanne, of Second Company, Writes of Life at the Front.

Sergt. J. A. Lalanne, a member of the class of Arts '17, and now a sergeant in the Princess Pats, writes the following interesting letter from the front:

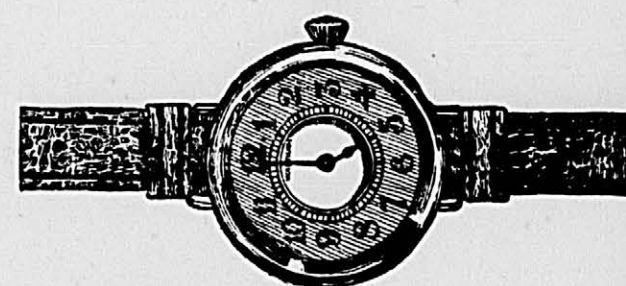

Dear —:

Received your letter some time ago. Since then we have moved around considerably, and are now much further south. We have not had any rain here for a couple of weeks until last night, so we have been Jake (means O.K. in Tommy Atkins' language). We saw several of the 24th over here a few days ago; also Jack Rutherford was at our billets one day. Murray Sutherland is still untouched. I guess J. R. Kilgour and myself will have to lecture to each other. One of the Vancouver boys of the first company has carried a physics book with him, so it might come in handy.

As the above letter states, one of the boys simply could not forget his physics, and had to take along with him his old friends the Physics textbook. This book has a very interesting story to relate. It first crossed the continent, spending a few weeks in Montreal before starting on that long and tiresome journey to France. It then endured all the dangers of submarine warfare before it finally landed in England, where it rested in a kit-bag while its owner was perfecting himself in military training. Its last journey was made some time last month, when it crossed over to France, and now it is proving a comfort to its owner on the battlefields of Europe. It is not unlikely that when the war is over and these men return, the book will be of peculiar interest to all clubs.
